Dia de los Muertos

Dia de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) is celebrated on November 1st and 2nd. Dia de los Muertos honors those who have passed away. In Mexico people visit the cemetery where their loved ones are buried. They decorate gravesites with marigold flowers and candles. They bring toys for dead children and bottles of tequila for adults. They sit on picnic blankets next to gravesites, tell stories and eat the favorite food of their loved ones.

Mexican families build altars at home, write short poems called Calaveras dedicating them to the dead. They decorate their altars with papel picado, flowers, sugar skulls, religious items, food, pictures of the deceased and pan de muerto.

Pan de muerto is the traditional bread people eat on this day and it is only baked during this time of year.

Papel Picado is tissue-like paper used to make beautiful art pieces and banners in various colors.

Saturday Sandwich at HECSY

HECSY's Child Development Club launched "Sandwich Saturday" in Spring 2017. 30 students volunteers donated food, ingredients and time to make and deliver sandwiches. This year's Sandwich Saturday was held on October 13, 2018. The sandwiches were first delivered to homeless at the Harborside Park in Chula Vista, next to the Office of Health and Human Services. The remaining sandwiches were taken and delivered to the homeless in Downtown San Diego.

Sandwich Saturday was made possible, in part, by the support from the Family Studies Department, the Child Development Club and its President Leslie Santana Verduzco, Students at HECSY and Chula Vista Campus, and William Marsden, Club Advisor and Professor.
