Gonfalon Flags

A gonfalon is a medieval banner originally used by 11th and 12th century Italian city-states. Later, gonfalons were adopted by Italian guilds, corporations and sub-districts. Gonfalons often include badges or coat of arms. Gonfalons are used in ceremonies at the University of Chicago, Rowan University, Rutgers University, Princeton University, the University of Toronto, the University of St. Thomas, and now, Southwestern College.

The gonfalons being carried today represent each of the college's six schools and the three Higher Education Centers. Carrying the flags are honor students from each of the six schools and centers.

Academic Costume

Traditions of academic costume began in medieval Europe. When students in the universities of Paris, Bologna, Oxford and Cambridge began to organize into guilds, they developed distinctive costumes for bachelors (apprentices), masters (teachers) and doctors (teachers who had completed postgraduate study).

American use has been standardized by an intercollegiate code, which takes the Oxford costume as a starting point. The bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves, and the master's gown oblong sleeves, open at the wrist. Both are untrimmed. The doctor's gown has round, open sleeves, with three bars of velvet and velvet facing. The gown is normally black but some institutions have adopted colored gowns.

The academic hood also found its beginnings in the unheated medieval classrooms of England. Its original purpose was as a head covering to provide warmth before it was replaced by the mortarboard. The hood is now worn around the neck and down the back and indicates both the degree held and the institution from which it was granted. All hoods are black and lined in satin with the color(s) of the institution that conferred the wearer's degree. The color of the velvet trimming on the hood represents the field in which the degree was granted. The style of the hood varies with the degree level.

2023 HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Sandra Scheller

This year's Honorary Degree recipient has been called a relentless warrior for peace. For decades she has been helping the ever-dwindling number of Holocaust survivors keep their stories alive.

Using the experiences from her rich career in the performing and visual arts and the skills as a costume designer, filmmaker, author and dancer, Sandra Scheller has been a one-woman army to illustrate the impacts of the Holocaust.

Beginning in 2012, Sandy was a regular companion to her mother, Ruth Goldschmiedova Sax, as Ruth addressed thousands of school assemblies, corporate gatherings and television stations. Ruth's goal was to enlighten people of all ages to the atrocities of Nazi Germany. Her efforts earned her an Honorary Degree from Southwestern College in 2018, just months before she passed away.

Upon Sax's death, Scheller took up the mantle, curating and assembling the Chula Vista Library exhibit "RUTH: Remember Us, The Holocaust" in tribute to her mother and the other local Holocaust survivors. When the exhibit opened in January, 2020, Scheller held a luncheon that included 27 Holocaust survivors. When the exhibit closed two years later, fewer than 20 of those survivors remained.

"That shows how quickly we are losing them," Scheller said. "That's why we need to act fast and why I stay so busy. I'll rest later."

A life-long learner, Scheller trained at the USC Shoah Foundation started by Steven Spielberg to learn how to effectively interview and videotape Holocaust survivors. She has used this knowledge to make more than 500 appearances at schools and civic organizations. She has moderated nearly 100 video podcasts and filmed oral histories with nearly 100 aging Holocaust survivors.

Scheller has too much material to live in a traveling library exhibit, she says. That is why she is working with the San Diego County Board of Supervisors and the Chula Vista City Council to establish a local Holocaust museum and research center.

For her meritorious contributions to the community in education, human relations, performing, visual and literary arts, civil rights, equity and inclusion, the Southwestern College Governing Board grants Sandra Scheller a Southwestern College honorary degree.
